

2026 Legal Forecast on AI and Regulations

December 30, 2025

By Russell B. Berger and Sarah M. Sawyer

In the last OK at Work episode of 2025, Sarah Sawyer and Russell Berger, attorneys at Offit Kurman, discuss the upcoming legal challenges and trends for 2026. Focusing on the evolving impact of artificial intelligence (AI) and generative AI, they explore its implications across various legal areas, including privacy, employment law, and state regulations. They predict a significant focus on AI legislation at both state and federal levels and share insights on how business owners can navigate these emerging legal landscapes.
