Offit Kurman Attorneys Named to Bergen Magazine's 2025 Top Lawyers List

October 30, 2025

Offit Kurman is proud to announce that two attorneys from our family law practice group, Stephanie Lehman (Matrimonial & Family Law category) and Sarah Goldenthal (Custody category), have been named to Bergen Magazine's 2025 list of Top Lawyers.

The annual Top Lawyers list, published in the November issue of Bergen Magazine, is developed by Professional Research Services (PRS) and based on a peer-review survey of licensed attorneys in Bergen County. Thousands of votes were cast to honor excellence across a wide range of practice areas. Inclusion is based solely on peer recognition and cannot be purchased.

Stephanie Lehman is a trusted advocate in complex matrimonial and family law matters, guiding clients through divorce, custody, and financial disputes with clarity, compassion, and strategic insight. She has extensive experience navigating forensic valuations of businesses, professional practices, and deferred compensation, and works collaboratively with financial and other experts to achieve equitable outcomes. In addition to her litigation practice, Stephanie is a certified mediator and trained in collaborative law, offering clients alternative paths to resolution that prioritize communication and mutual respect.

Sarah Goldenthal provides skillful guidance to her clients through all aspects of divorce and family law cases by navigating sensitive issues with practical strategies to resolve custody and parenting time matters and by addressing complex financial issues impacting equitable distribution and support in a manner that meets the goals and needs of her clients. Sarah believes in exploring creative solutions in and out of the courtroom, always mindful of the long-term impact on families.
