Bethesda, MD – 240.507.1703

Daria "Dasha" Nikitina helps individuals and families navigate some of life's most challenging transitions, providing thoughtful counsel and determined advocacy in complex family law matters. Her practice focuses on high-conflict custody disputes, complex marital property issues, and non-traditional custody matters, including grandparent visitation and custody rights, stepparent custody, and claims involving parental unfitness.

Since beginning her legal career, Dasha has practiced exclusively in family law. She guides clients through emotionally charged disputes with a practical, solutions-oriented approach while remaining focused on protecting their interests and helping them move forward with confidence. Her experience representing families in sensitive custody matters has reinforced her commitment to providing clear guidance during uncertain times.

Dasha provides compassionate and resilient advocacy for clients facing difficult family law challenges. She works with individuals and families from a wide range of backgrounds and family structures, helping them navigate sensitive legal matters with clarity and confidence. As a bilingual attorney fluent in Russian, she is able to assist clients whose legal needs may be complicated by cultural or language barriers.
