

Home Healthcare

June 21, 2023

By Russell B. Berger

Welcome to One Minute of Overtime, where I will share insights on Labor and Employment Law topics, mostly related to minimum wage and overtime compliance issues.

Compliance in this area of law is nuanced and technical, so it is critical for employers to audit and adjust their practices to remain compliant, so stop by to stay up-to-date and in-the-know.

Russell Berger | rberger@offitkurman.com | 410.209.6449

Offit | Kurman

Home Health Care

With limited exception for companionship services, most individuals hired to provide home health care services are likely to be considered non-exempt employees. Home health care providers should take care to ensure proper classification of their workforce.

ONE MINUTE OF OVERTIME
presented by russell berger

With limited exception for companionship services, most individuals hired to provide home health care services are likely to be considered non-exempt employees. Home health care providers should take care to ensure proper classification of their workforce.