Offit Kurman Welcomes Kelsey Sanna to Employment and Labor Practice in Wilmington

September 16, 2025

Offit Kurman is pleased to announce that Kelsey Sanna has joined the firm's employment and labor practice, based in Wilmington, Delaware.

Kelsey represents employers and professionals in a wide range of workplace matters, focusing on clear communication, thorough preparation, and practical solutions. She brings experience across litigation and compliance, having previously served as a judicial intern to the Honorable N. Christopher Griffiths of the Delaware Supreme Court, as well as part of national and regional defense practices, where she contributed to high-stakes litigation and compliance matters.

During law school, Kelsey held leadership roles on the Honor Council Board and served as a Legal Research & Writing Fellow, mentoring first-year students. Known for her strong organizational skills and collaborative style, she approaches each matter with precision, efficiency, and a client-focused mindset.

Kelsey is admitted to practice in Pennsylvania and Delaware.
