Offit Kurman Attorneys Appointed to INTA Committees for 2026–2027 Term

October 15, 2025

Offit Kurman is pleased to announce that attorneys Laura Winston and Deborah Greaves have been appointed to serve on committees of the International Trademark Association (INTA) for the 2026–2027 term.

Laura Winston will serve on the Law Firm Committee, which develops member benefits, services, and educational programs tailored to law firms and intellectual property professionals. The committee's work includes content development, program planning, and the creation of resources to support professional growth within IP law firms. Laura most recently served on the Brands and Innovation Committee and the Public Information Committee.

Deborah Greaves will serve on the Copyright Committee, which focuses on developing and advocating INTA's policy positions related to copyright law. The committee monitors global developments in legislation and case law, provides analysis and policy recommendations, and collaborates with copyright organizations and stakeholders worldwide.

Through these appointments, Laura and Deborah will contribute to advancing INTA's mission of fostering innovation and protecting intellectual property rights around the world.
