Jake Ramsey solves business disputes with a clear strategy and steady execution. A commercial litigator and trial attorney, he represents companies of all sizes in cases involving fraud, breach of fiduciary duty, breach of contract, theft of trade secrets, non-compete and non-solicitation agreements, breach of warranty, business divorce, receiverships, and shareholder oppression. For clients managing litigation in multiple venues, Jake develops unified strategies that align teams, records, and objectives across jurisdictions, ensuring cases progress toward resolution.

From investigation through trial, Jake plans each step around the business goal at stake. He manages discovery, evaluates liability and exposure, and prepares witnesses and decision-makers so they can act with confidence. His experience with class actions and multi-district litigation helps companies facing parallel suits in different courts reduce risk, preserve leverage, and avoid duplicate effort.

While Jake practices in Texas, his work is national. Licensed in Texas, he has litigated matters in Arkansas, California, Georgia, Illinois, Kansas, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas, Vermont, and Wisconsin. Clients rely on his practical, no-nonsense communication and his ability to coordinate efficiently with in-house counsel and outside teams.

Outside the office, Jake enjoys spending time with family and friends, cheering on the Dallas Mavericks, and playing sand volleyball.
