Laura Winston Published in Law360

December 2, 2021

In the November 23, 2021 edition of Law360, Laura Winston, a Principal in Offit Kurman's Intellectual Property group, published the article entitled What Return of Fraud on USPTO Means for TM Practitioners.

This article discusses a recent decision by the Trademark and Trial Appeal Board (TTAB) to cancel a trademark registration for fraud. The TTAB found the attorney who signed the declaration to have acted in reckless disregard. The article stresses the consequences of a Trademark attorney signing a declaration on behalf of a registrant without ensuring true and correct information. Read the full article here.
