Offit Kurman Adds Estates and Trusts Attorney Leah K. Roddenberry to the Bethesda Office

December 1, 2025

Offit Kurman is pleased to announce that Leah K. Roddenberry has joined the firm's estates and trusts practice group in Bethesda, Maryland.

Leah advises individuals and families on estate planning and trust and estate administration, assisting clients in organizing personal and financial affairs, preparing foundational planning documents, and addressing long-term legacy and wealth-transfer objectives. Her work includes drafting wills, trusts, powers of attorney, and advance healthcare directives, as well as guiding clients through the practical and procedural aspects of estate and trust administration.

Leah is committed to delivering thoughtful, organized, and accessible counsel. Her client-centered approach was shaped in part by her experience as a student associate in her law school estate clinic, where she supported real clients in pro bono planning matters. Outside of her legal practice, Leah is active in charitable efforts supporting Parkinson's organizations and enjoys dancing, golfing, and spending time with family and friends.
