

Litigator's Lounge: Legal Company Registration

December 12, 2024

By Niall McMillan and Anders Sleight

In this episode of "Litigators Lounge," Anders Sleight and Niall McMillan discuss the importance of registering a company in the state where it operates, regardless of its incorporation origin, to ensure the ability to conduct business, file lawsuits, and defend claims. Additionally, they discuss the severe legal repercussions of failing to maintain good standing, including the inability to initiate, counterclaim, or appeal suits, underscoring the necessity of consulting an attorney for registration questions.