Offit Kurman Principal Matt Karmel Named to NJBIZ Law Power 50 List

July 21, 2025

Offit Kurman is proud to announce that Matt Karmel, Principal and Chair of the firm's Environmental and Sustainability Law practice, has been named to the 2025 NJBIZ Law Power 50 list. The annual list recognizes legal professionals who have made a significant impact on New Jersey's legal, business, and civic communities through professional accomplishments and public service. Matt has been recognized on this list each year since 2022, reflecting his sustained influence and leadership in the field.

Matt represents a wide range of clients from Fortune 100 companies to individual homeowners on the full spectrum of environmental matters. His work spans brownfields redevelopment, regulatory compliance, environmental litigation, waste management, renewable energy, and climate-focused business strategy. A widely respected voice on environmental and sustainability issues, Matt is committed to promoting climate-conscious legal practice. He shares insights and resources through "the planetary lawyer project," a newsletter and platform he founded to encourage environmentally responsible lawyering. His advocacy extends beyond client service, with active involvement in industry organizations, pro bono work on critical environmental causes, and frequent contributions to leading publications and panels.

Compiled by NJBIZ's editorial team, the Law Power 50 highlights individuals who are helping to make New Jersey a better place to live, work, and do business.
