Offit Kurman Recognized Among Nation's Top Law Firms on 2026 Am Law 200 List

May 6, 2026

Offit Kurman has been ranked No.180 on The American Lawyer's 2026 Am Law 200 list, which evaluates the top U.S. law firms based on key financial metrics. The firm moved up from No.184 in 2025, marking its sixth consecutive year on the list. Offit Kurman also reported a 9.6% year-over-year increase in revenue, reflecting continued momentum and disciplined growth.

"Being recognized again on the Am Law 200 underscores the strength of our growth strategy," said Robert Skinner, CEO of Offit Kurman. "Our growth has been intentional and disciplined. The openings of our Atlanta, Dallas, and Florida offices added several attorneys whose practices strengthened our platform in new key markets for the firm. This combined with lateral growth in our established locations and organic growth of our existing attorneys' practices contributed meaningfully to our year-over-year revenue growth. We remain committed to building a firm positioned for sustained success and continued growth."

The Am Law 200 ranks firms by metrics such as revenue, revenue per lawyer, profits per equity partner, and overall financial performance. Offit Kurman's continued inclusion on the list reflects its focus on strategic growth, operational excellence, and strong client relationships.
