

Publications & News

Publications and Presentations

Offit Kurman Attorney Danielle Friedman Provides Insight on Corporate Transparency Act Reporting for The Pennsylvania Bar Association's Newsletter

July 10, 2024

Danielle Friedman, an attorney in Offit Kurman's Estates and Trusts Practice Group, has authored an insightful article titled "Corporate Transparency Act Reporting for Covered Entities Owned by Trusts." This article has been featured in the Summer/Fall 2024 Edition of the Pennsylvania Bar Association's Real Property, Probate & Trust Law Section newsletter.

The article provides a comprehensive analysis of the Corporate Transparency Act (CTA) and its implications for entities owned by trusts. It explores the reporting requirements and the practical steps that trustees and legal professionals need to take to ensure compliance with the CTA.

Danielle's detailed examination of this legislation serves as a valuable resource for practitioners navigating the complexities of transparency and compliance in the trust and estate planning sector. We encourage you to read this informative piece to stay informed about the latest developments in corporate transparency and trust management.

You can access the full article through the Pennsylvania Bar Association's Real Property, Probate & Trust Law Section newsletter here.

Related People

- Danielle Friedman

Related Services

- Estates and Trusts