Offit Kurman Welcomes John Perry to the Commercial Litigation Practice in the Bethesda Maryland Office

March 4, 2025

Offit Kurman is excited to announce the addition of John Perry to the commercial litigation practice in the Bethesda, Maryland office. With a strong track record representing businesses and individuals in state and federal courts across Virginia, Maryland and Washington, D.C., John brings valuable experience in business disputes, breach of contract claims, non-compete agreements and employment litigation.

John also practices construction litigation and political law. He has handled complex legal matters successfully and served as lead counsel in appellate cases before the Appellate Court of Maryland, the Fourth Circuit and the Virginia Court of Appeals.

Before entering private practice, John clerked for the Hon. Kathryn G. Graeff at the Appellate Court of Maryland, gaining invaluable experience in appellate law and courtroom strategy. His deep legal insight and litigation skills make him an asset to clients navigating high-stakes disputes.
