

OK at Work: Discrimination in Various Forms

May 23, 2023

By Russell B. Berger and Sarah M. Sawyer

Discrimination can come in different forms, and often, it's not just about skin color, gender, or religion. Height and weight discrimination is receiving attention in New York City, where the City Council has passed a bill prohibiting such workplace discrimination. On this week's OK at Work, Sarah Sawyer and Russell Berger take a closer look at the passing of this bill and what it means for business owners in New York City and potential future ramifications elsewhere.