Roslyn Soudry is a distinguished matrimonial and family law attorney in Offit Kurman's Los Angeles office, with decades of experience representing high-profile individuals, including celebrities, professional athletes, business leaders, and other high-net-worth clients. Known for her sharp legal insight, creative problem-solving, and unwavering discretion, Roslyn has earned a reputation as a trusted advisor in handling the most complex and sensitive family law matters.

Her practice spans all aspects of family law, including paternity, child custody, dissolution of marriages and domestic partnerships, prenuptial and post-marital agreements, and post-judgment issues. Equally skilled in litigation and negotiation, Roslyn tailors her approach to each client's needs, whether advocating in court or facilitating discreet resolutions behind the scenes. Her skill in managing high-profile, contentious disputes has made her a sought-after attorney for individuals in the public eye, particularly in cases that attract media attention. Roslyn's representation in high-profile cases has included interviews with major outlets such as The Today Show, People Magazine, The Daily Journal, and USA Today.

Deeply committed to her clients, Roslyn ensures they feel heard and supported throughout the legal process. She understands the unique challenges faced by individuals with public profiles and prioritizes protecting their privacy while securing the best outcomes for their families. Beyond legal strategy, Roslyn emphasizes compassion and understanding, recognizing the deep emotional stakes involved in family law matters. Her goal is not just to resolve disputes but to help clients navigate challenging transitions with dignity and care. This empathetic approach has earned her the trust of clients, leading to strong, long-lasting relationships, with many returning to her for counsel on post-judgment matters.

Roslyn also works extensively with international clients, leveraging her fluency in French to assist individuals navigating cross-border family law issues. Her ability to communicate in French has allowed her to serve a diverse, global clientele, addressing the complex legal challenges faced by international families in high-stakes custody disputes, divorce settlements, and asset divisions.

A leader in her field, Roslyn founded and served as president of the Southern California Family Law Inn of Court, where she has mentored young lawyers and fostered
