Philadelphia, PA – 267.338.1367

Ross I. Berger is an estates and trusts attorney in the firm's Philadelphia office. He advises individuals and families on complex estate planning matters, including estate and gift tax planning, family business succession, charitable planning, and multigenerational wealth preservation. Ross represents clients at all stages of wealth planning, from emerging wealth to families overseeing significant, complex asset portfolios.

Ross also works closely with the firm's business law and transactions practice, advising family-owned and closely held businesses on succession planning and related corporate matters. Before practicing law, Ross worked as an analyst at a global investment bank and held operations roles at early-stage technology startups, experience that informs his practical approach to advising clients on the intersection of legal, financial, and business considerations.

Ross received his J.D. from the University of Pennsylvania Carey Law School and his B.A. from Wesleyan University. He is admitted to practice in Pennsylvania and is a member of the Pennsylvania Bar Association and the Philadelphia Bar Association.
